Carswell and Wood Support Hardman in Run-Over

CANDIDATES JOIN FORCES 'TO SMASH MACHINE POLITICS'

In Formal Statements, Two Low Candidates in First Primary, Back Hardman in Runover.

HARDMAN STYLED AS LEADER IN FIGHT

Sam A. Nunn, Manager for Carswell, To Assist Direction of Hardman's Runover Campaign.

George H. Carswell, of Irwinton, who ran third in the four-cornered race for governor in Wednesday's primary, and J. O. Wood, of Atlanta, fourth candidate in the primary, Friday issued formal statements announcing they will support Dr. L. G. Hardman in the run-over race with John N. Holder, chief of the state highway department, on October 6.

Both declared they based their bid for the governorship in the first primary upon their opposition to "machine politics" personified by Mr. Holder, and that they recognized Dr. Hardman as leader in the final fight to overthrow such practices.

Mr. Carswell announced that his campaign manager, Sam A. Nunn, of Perry, will assist A. S. Chambliss, of Washington county, Dr. Hardman's campaign manager, in the direction of Hardman's campaign.

"Fight begun," says Carswell. "The fight to free Georgia from the bondage of political machines is not yet finished," Carswell's statement declared. "The dangerous machine that politics has built in the state agricultural department is wrecked, but the much more menacing one into which John N. Holder has converted the state highway department remains. We shall wreck that, too, on October 6."

"However much I should like to serve my state as governor, no man's individual ambition should compromise upon principles. Having dedicated myself to do my part in destroying machine government in Georgia, and Mr. Holder's candidacy being the living symbol of machine government in its worst form, I shall continue the fight. And I ask my friends throughout the state to come with me to the finish."

"The fact that political fortune has placed the standard in Dr. Hardman's hands shall deter me no whit from continuing the fight. I have constantly waged against machine politics," Mr. Wood said. "I shall work for him as I did for myself, and I ask

Good Food, Good Digestion, Good Health

We've often heard of the person who "can eat tacks and get away with it." They usually do it, figuratively speaking, over a period of years, and then all at once realize they have to be careful of their diet.

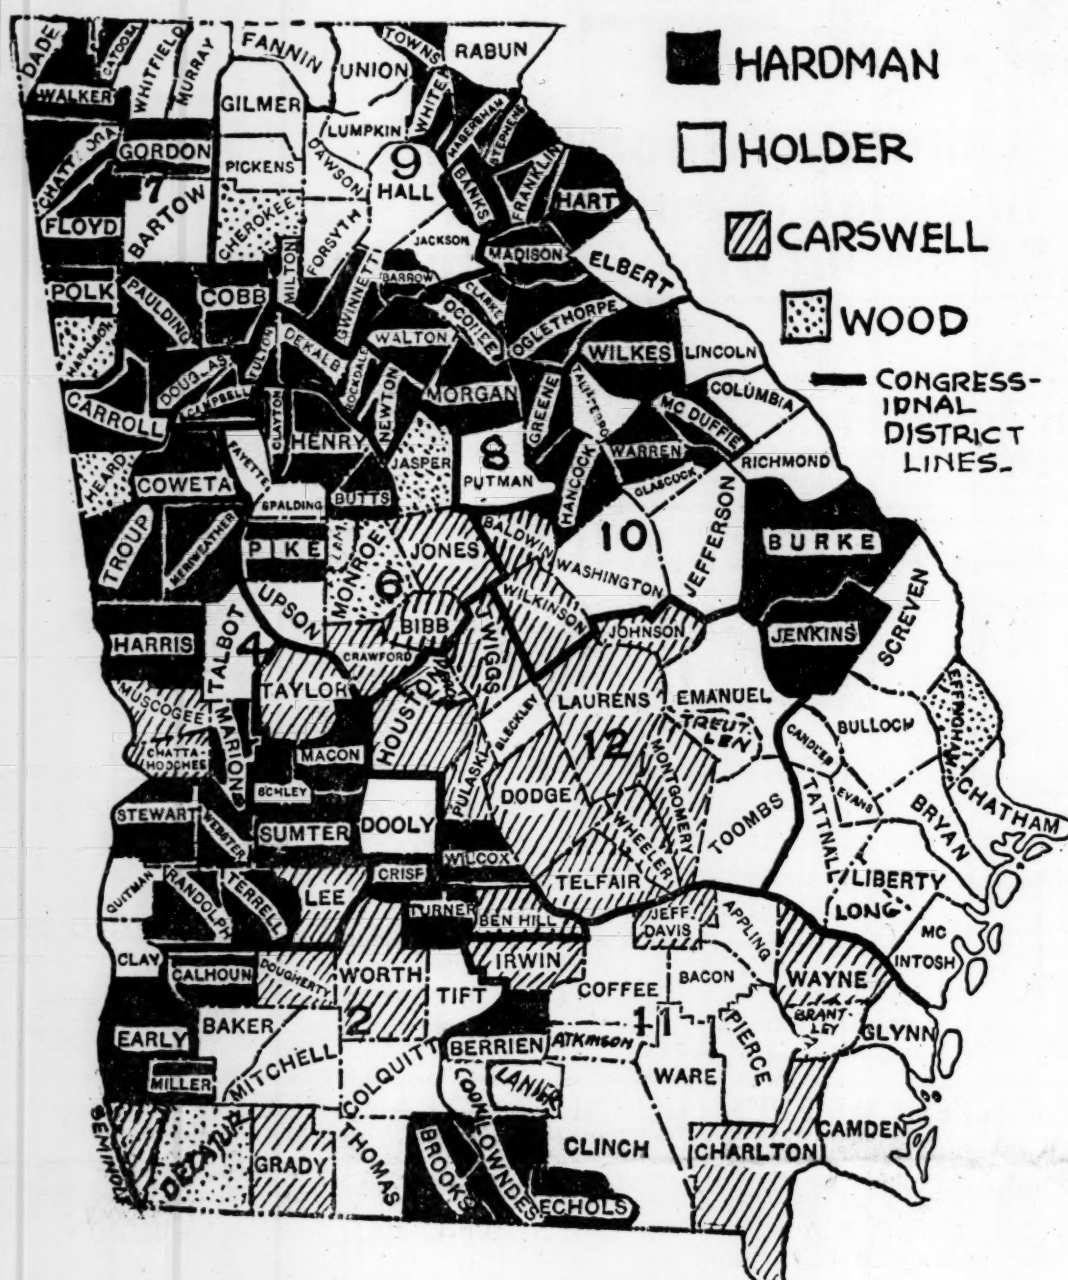

It's a whole lot better to begin being choosy of food earlier in life. Good food, plus good digestion, means good health, and carefully planned meals of the very best food is an aid to digestion and assimilation.

The Atlanta lady who plans the meals of her family is never limited in choice. She may have complete variety in food-stuffs, and her menus may be perfectly balanced as to food combinations.

How the Counties Voted for Governor

The above map is an interesting pictorial presentation of the way the counties of Georgia voted for governor. This map is prepared from the official announcements of the result in each county. Of the county unit votes of the state, Hardman received 168 votes; Holder 158 votes; Carswell 72 votes and Wood 16 votes.

This is the result of yesterday's reports of the official consolidation. The totals for each candidate are exactly the same as were announced in The Constitution of Friday morning, and show but little variation from the vote as announced on Thursday, the day following the primary, and no variation at all in the relative standing of the candidates as first announced in special editions of The Constitution shortly after the polls closed Wednesday night.

With The Constitution in all election reports, the matter of truth and accuracy is always given first consideration, and the striking accuracy of The Constitution's reports of Wednesday's primary is simply a continuation of its record of a third of a century in making accuracy its first consideration in the report of all elections.

Imposter Who Fooled Girl 'In Fun' Lands in Jail

J. O. Mitcham, 31, who gives his occupation as "holier-maker" and his address as "on the river car line," and who, according to his own word, is full of fun, had an inspiration about a week ago. As a direct and disastrous result he is in the city jail, facing possible indictment by the federal grand jury for misuse of the mails and forging the name of Joel Hurt, prominent Atlanta.

Mitcham inserted an advertisement recently in an Atlanta paper, advertising for a "middle-aged housekeeper." Among several applicants for the position was Miss Mary Freeman, who is not middle-aged, and who lives at Birmingham, Ala.

Mitcham, according to city, county and federal authorities, all of whom are manifesting more than a casual interest in the case, decided to give

CHEERS WELCOME GERMANY'S ENTRY INTO LEAGUE FOLD

Fatherland's Delegates Are Embraced by Late Enemies; Spirit of Locarno Rules Occasion.

BY HENRY WOOD.
Geneva, September 10.—Germany has been embraced by her late enemies and formally welcomed into the League of Nations.

Sir George Foster, of Canada, "imbued with the spirit of enthusiasm which marked the reich's entrance, Friday, rose in his place and called for loud cheers—an unprecedented action.

Statesmen and spectators from every corner of the globe responded wildly. Tonight the spirit of Locarno again was in the air. The pact which looked to guarantee against war was ratified by Germany. With the deposit of the ratification with the league secretariat, the Locarno pact will go into effect immediately.

This Europe was believed to have made a long step toward insuring peace on the continent.

Aristide Briand, the "man of Locarno," the French foreign minister, and Gustav Stresemann, the German foreign minister, were the men of the hour in Germany's re-entry to the European family.

Briand's speech was typical of one of France's greatest orators.

"I rise to salute Germany's entrance into the league and to assure her of the cordial spirit of international collaboration that they will find here," said the eight-time French premier.

"The league must achieve universal

TWO ARRESTED IN DONALDSON CASE IN TAMPA

Atlanta Officers Leave for Florida City Today To Aid Investigation There.

REMARKS IN CAFE CAUSE OF ARREST

One Suspect Gives Name "A. C. Simpson, of Atlanta;" Identity of Second Prisoner Withheld.

Atlanta officers today will be sent to Tampa, Fla., to assist in an extensive investigation which Solicitor General John A. Boykin requested Tampa authorities to conduct, following the arrest of two men Friday believed to be wanted here in connection with the murder of Bert Donaldson, crack criminal investigator of the solicitor's staff.

One of the men arrested gave the name of A. C. Simpson, and his address as Atlanta, and the identity of the other is being withheld. It was announced from the solicitor's home Friday night that he was in communication with the chief of police in Tampa over long distance telephone Friday, and was sufficiently impressed with information gained in a lengthy conversation to request the Tampa authorities to launch an investigation, and that he would send Atlanta officers to Tampa Saturday to aid.

TALK IN CAFE CAUSES ARRESTS.

Tampa, Fla., September 10.—(AP)—Police here believe they have two men wanted in connection with the killing in an Atlanta hotel several days ago of Bert Donaldson, of Atlanta, a member of Solicitor General John A. Boykin's staff.

An unguarded conversation of three men in a cafe in the Latin quarter of the city early this morning already has led to two arrests and the investigation is being continued. One of the two men under arrest gave his name as A. C. Simpson, of Atlanta, and the identity of the other is being withheld.

Policemen said Simpson admits having been a friend of Donaldson, but denies any connection with his death.

School Girls Ruin Health To Get Thin

So Says Superintendent Sutton of Students in Local High Schools.

"This 'straight line' fad for girls and women is going to be the ruin of the nation. Hundreds of girls in the junior and senior high schools are starving themselves into sickness to get thin, when they should be trying to make themselves strong and healthy," declared Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of Atlanta schools, in an address Friday afternoon.

Mr. Sutton was speaking at the first luncheon for the fall season of the service committee of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, presided over by Henderson Hallman, chairman of the committee and a director of the chamber. His topic was "Health, Mind and Character," and he stressed the tremendous importance of physical well-being, the development of the ability to think, and a good character above that of "reading, writing and arithmetic."

Mr. Sutton's talk was largely a plea for greater development of mental processes among young people instead of slavish adherence to textbooks and the facts they teach.

"The old idea that children should be seen and not heard has been exploded," he said. "The belief now is that they should be encouraged to express themselves while they are young, so they will develop their own minds."

Among the visitors was Walter F. Schutts, of Memphis, the engineer who will build the Atlanta viaduct under the recent bond issue. Mr. Schutts in a short talk said work should be begun within a few months.

HARDMAN'S LEAD IN RACE ASSURED BY FINAL RETURNS

Further Tabulation Confirms Earlier Reports of 168 for Commerce Man, 158 for Holder.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Dr. L. G. Hardman, of Commerce, led the four candidates for governor in the number of county unit votes, and John N. Holder, of Jefferson, led in popular votes. It was shown Friday night in returns tabulated from Wednesday's primary election.

The standing in county unit votes was:

Dr. L. G. Hardman, 168.
John N. Holder, 158.
George Carswell, 72.
J. O. Wood, 16.

In popular votes received from all but a few precincts, the standing was:

Holder, 70,810.
Hardman, 67,051.
Carswell, 31,978.
Wood, 12,731.

182,570 Total Vote.

This made a total of 182,570 votes reported.

The popular vote in Echols county is missing from this tabulation, the report from that county stating it went for Hardman by 48 majority.

There are 414 county unit votes, 208 being necessary for a choice. No one candidate having received a majority, a second primary will be held October 6 between Dr. Hardman and Mr. Holder to decide the gubernatorial race.

Oklahoma Girl Is Elected 'Miss America' for 1926

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Atlantic City, N. J., September 10. Norma Desegne Smallwood, Miss Tulsa, Oklahoma, was proclaimed Miss America here tonight when the opening of the golden apple and the count of ballots it contained revealed her winner of the 1926 national beauty pageant in which there were 72 other contenders from as many cities.

Miss Smallwood is 18, petite and brunette. She is 5 feet 4, weighs 118 pounds, has sea-blue eyes and dark brown wavy hair, unbobbed. Her skin is fair.

Marjorie Joesting, 22, of Washington, D. C., Miss Washington, was runner-up.

MISS GREATER NEW YORK WINS GOLD LOVING CUP.

Atlantic City, N. J., September 10.—(AP)—Miss Greater New York, Ruth Patterson, a little and graceful pilot of a golden motor boat, won the grand prize, a gold loving cup, in the inter-city beauty division of the rolling chair parade here this afternoon. The float on which she rode was a miniature of New York harbor, with the statue of liberty rising above the skyline of the metropolis in perspective.

DRAMATIC STORY OF GRAFT IN U. S. TOLD BY GERMAN

Robert Merton Is Star Witness at Trial of Former Attorney General and of Miller.

BY FRANK DOLAN.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

New York, September 10.—Speaking in a low, penetrating voice that carried to every corner of the packed courtroom, Richard Merton, ex-German army officer, premier magnate of the Rhineland and star witness for the government in the American Metals company case, told today an almost incredible story of graft and political crookedness which United States Attorney Emory R. Buckner believes will send Harry M. Daugherty and Colonel Thomas W. Miller to Atlanta prison.

The German millionaire, under the slow, careful guidance of Buckner's examination, told of paying a $50,000 bribe to John T. King, republican national committeeman in the Harding administration, and Jesse Smith, Daugherty's "man Friday."

This money, he said, was merely a retainer, and the real fee was agreed on as 5 per cent of the $7,000,000 which was recovered through their efforts.

He told of the champagne dinner in the Ritz-Carlton hotel here on the night of September 30, 1921, when he received the two checks, drawn on the United States treasury which represented the full amount of confiscated stock he sought. One was drawn for $3,500,357.29 and the other for $2,953,622.68.

King Arrives.

But the transaction was not completed with the passing of the checks, he declared. On the following morning he was accompanied by John T. King to the offices of Goldman Sachs, at 60 Wall street, he said, and there he turned over to King Liberty bonds to the value of $391,000.

"Did you and King go back up town together, then?" Buckner queried.

"No," said Merton laconically. "I

SMALL BOY DIES, TWO GIRLS HURT BY SPEEDING CAR

Mrs. A. H. Turner Held Under Guard at Grady Hospital After Driving Auto Into Group.

TWO DEAD; 11 HURT IN ACCIDENT WAVE

Andrew Owens Dies of Injuries, While His Two Girl Playmates Linger in Hospital.

Little Andrew Owens, 10, of 771 North Boulevard, is dead and two girl schoolmates of the same age are in a serious condition at Davis-Fischer hospital as the result of being run down Friday afternoon at Ponce de Leon avenue and Hunt street by an automobile driven by Mrs. A. H. Turner, 40, of 750 Ponce de Leon. Police reports state the car passed over the signal of a traffic officer at a speed of 45 miles per hour.

Crowds of school children were crossing Ponce de Leon at Hunt street under the protection of Traffic Officer R. T. Denny when the automobile driven by Mrs. Turner swerved from behind a car which was stopped by the signal.

Officer Saves Four.

Seven instead of three would have been the casualty toll of the automobile had it not been for the presence of mind and quick action of Officer Denny in snatching four of them from the path of the onrushing car.

The three little victims were a step or two in advance of Officer Denny, who was walking with four others. Two of them were holding onto the officer's coat and two on his arm. With almost incredible swiftness the officer stepped back from the path of the car, snatching the four within his reach to safety.

Three children were struck by Mrs. Turner's car, Susie Eubanks, 9, of 83 Vedado way, receiving a fracture of the leg and possible internal injuries, while Mary Lanier, 9, of 269 East Fifth avenue, was bruised about the head and has possible internal injuries also, physicians stated Friday night.

Mrs. Turner Collapses.

Mrs. Turner is in Grady hospital in a state of collapse and is under a police guard at the hospital.

DORMITORY GIVEN TO TECH

The new Nat. E. Harris dormitory of Georgia Tech Friday formally passed into the hands of school authorities when in simple but impressive ceremonies the new edifice was dedicated to the "service and upbuilding of Atlanta, the state and the entire south."

Scores of officials and alumni attended the ceremony, which was presided over by Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of the school. Former Governor Nat. E. Harris, in whose honor the building was named, accepted it as chairman of the board of trustees of Tech.

In opening remarks, Dr. Brittain declared that the new structure is exclusively "a Tech creation," having been designed by Harold Bush-Brown, Atlanta architect and head of the architectural department of Tech; constructed by a Tech alumnus, and that funds were provided by subscriptions of alumni.

The new dormitory was built at a cost of $101,000, and faces Grant field. It will house about 100 students, and is considered one of the most thoroughly modern structures in the entire south.

Governor Harris, in receiving the building in behalf of trustees, declared he was doubly honored in that he was "designated to receive it by a stroke of circumstance," and because it is named after him.

"I feel supremely honored that the future builders of Atlanta and the great southland, and even the nation, will be housed in a structure named for me, and I am deeply grateful," Mr. Harris declared.

Dr. Brittain introduced Governor Harris as "the grand old man of Georgia Tech."

FRANCE PLANNING TO REDUCE ARMY

Paris, September 10.—(AP)—While Foreign Ministers Briand and Stresemann at Geneva today were pledging France and Germany to policies of peace, a ministerial council in plenary session here issued a decree providing for reductions in the French army. There will be a gradual but important cutting down in the number of men and many properties will be transferred from military to governmental control.

Other services of the government also felt the weight of Premier Poincaré's plans for a nation-wide "grand penitence" to reduce the budget. The interior administration will lose by the abolition of 106 sub-prefectures and 70 departmental secretariats.

Just how much the actual standing army will be reduced will remain problematical until the details of the reduction are worked out. In its general outlines the scheme provides for the reduction of the army by 2,700 permanent officers during a period of years and the elimination of 1,200 officers holding temporary rank.

The number of men called to the colors will be gradually reduced—first by calling men to service at the age of 21 instead of the present age of 20, and later by reducing the period of military training to one year.

Dr. Booker Dies.

Little Rock, Ark., September 10.—(AP)—Dr. Josa Booker, 65, widely-known negro educator and for 39 years president of Arkansas Baptist college here, died suddenly last night at Fort Worth, Texas, according to a telegram received by relatives. He was in Fort Worth attending the Negro National Baptist convention.

Seeking Father Believed Dead Past 57 Years

Living 57 years in the belief that his father died while he was in his infancy, John H. Lee, 125 Marigold avenue, Buffalo, N. Y., has recently discovered in a revelation made by an aunt on her death bed, that his father had not died while Mr. Lee was a baby but moved to the south and was not heard from since that time.

Mr. Lee believes his father is still living somewhere in the south and seeks through The Constitution to find some information concerning him.

Three months before Mr. Lee was born his father, Richard E. Lee, then living in Buffalo, wanted to move to the south and his wife objected. Apparently angered, he left home and no word was received from him thereafter. Young Lee grew up in Buffalo and now lives there. His aunt, a sister of his mother, on her death bed recently told Mr. Lee the details of the story. Mr. Lee said his mother had always told him his father died before he was born but he said he was inclined to believe his aunt's story.

Mr. Lee said his mother's name before her marriage was Mary Schrader and he wants any information he can obtain about his father if it develops that he is still living.

BABIES NEAR DEATH FROM POISON DOSES

Two infants narrowly escaped death from poisoning Friday after they sampled household poisons.

Louise Owens, 17 months old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Owens, of 1539 Greener avenue, drank acid before the mother could snatch the bottle away, while Kathryn Cannon, 10 months old, of 356 Atlanta avenue, attempted to die on rat poison. Emergency treatment at Grady hospital probably saved the lives of both infants.

Signs of autumn will arrive today, says forecaster.

Cooler weather with a suggestion of autumn, though not enough to call out the blankets, will be experienced early this morning and tonight by Atlantans, according to the forecast of C. F. von Herrmann, U. S. meteorologist at Atlanta.

Signs of real cool weather are lacking at present, mild temperatures holding forth just now. A minimum of around 65 degrees is expected for tonight. North and northeast winds are expected today, while the breeze will shift to southeast and east Sunday.

IN COAL PRICES

Washington, September 10.—Coal prices will be considerably lower this winter, according to reports received here by the bureau of mines.

As compared with a year ago, the average cost of a ton of soft coal at the mines now is 17 cents less, $2.04 against $2.21. In 1924 the price was slightly less, $2.01.

The present prices, however, which have been kept up by a strong demand for fuel, are expected to go down later, for several reasons. The present high production, the likelihood of no labor troubles this winter, and end of the British coal strike expected soon should tend to ease the situation.

An advance of spot coal at the mines from $1.96 on August 9 to $2.04 on August 30 was laid to the increased demand for American fuel abroad because of the British strike and trouble over car shortage in some districts. At the present time, however, there is no general shortage of coal cars. Total exports of coal, too, are only about three or four per cent of the entire production.

Soft coal mines are running at a higher productive rate now than since 1923. The total output this year up to August 28 was 353,305,000 tons as compared with 315,298,000. Anthracite production is slightly less, chiefly because the mines were operating at top speed a year ago in anticipation of a strike, which occurred later. Hard coal production to August 28 was 52,243,000 tons, compared with 40,794,000 last year.

The Jacksonville wage agreement for the soft coal fields runs until March 31, and any difficulty over another contract will not affect prices this winter. The anthracite agreement signed after the strike last winter has four years to run.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE REPORTS PAYMENTS

Washington, September 10.—(AP)—The Anti-Saloon league spent $2,500 and the democratic national committee paid out $19,287.57 in political campaigns during one quarter ending today, in reports filed with the clerk of the house.

The league spent its money in New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois. Allen Sutherland, of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania campaign committee treasurer, was sent $500 on July 23, and an additional $500 on September 8. On the latter day $500 was sent Fred Victor, New York campaign committee treasurer, and $500 each to Ohio and Illinois committee treasurers.

In making the report Andrew Wilson, league treasurer, said he returned checks totaling $1,320 from corporations which are not allowed to contribute under the law. These included one for $1,250 from an incorporated church. The balance on hand was given as $5,557.58.

The Illinois Anti-Saloon league reported collections of $424 and expenditures of $80; the Pennsylvania league expenditures of $329.25 and receipts of $847, and the Indian league no receipts or disbursements in excess of $100.

The democratic committee report made by James W. Gerard showed no payments against its $201,999 obligation standing since May 29.

During the last quarter the New York democratic headquarters spent $94,420 and the Washington headquarters $19,503.21. The former received $12,617.74 in contributions and the latter $10,739.12, leaving a total balance on hand for the two headquarters with an addition of the balances on hand June 1 of $10,490.66.

Of the expenditures $4,000 went to the women's national democratic club and contributions showed $5,000 from William Church Osborn, of New York, and $6,000 from Norman H. Davis, former undersecretary of state.

Modern 'Fiery Dragons' Arrive in United States

New York, September 10.—(AP)—Two giant lizards, survivors of the "fiery dragons" of pre-historic times, arrived today on the Cunard liner Aquitania. Each is eight feet long, weighs 200 pounds and has a body as thick as a man's covered with a close protective armour. The great saurians, long sought by zoologists, were captured by Douglas Burden, trustee of the American Museum of Natural History, on the island of Komodo in the Malay archipelago. They are in the care of Professor E. R. Dunn, of Smith College. The lizards have red-tipped tongues and sometimes make a loud hissing noise, like escaping steam, just as their "fiery breathing" ancestors. Their legs are short and stubby and each foot has four claws. Their tails are spiked.

South's Largest Still Uncovered In New Orleans

New Orleans, La., September 10.—(AP)—Federal agents today uncovered what they believed to have been the largest alcohol distillery in the south, within a stone's throw of prohibition headquarters. The mammoth plant, estimated to have a capacity of from 2,000 to 10,000 gallons a week, was in the center of the wholesale district and is believed to have been in operation several months.

Joseph R. Kessler, alleged operator of the still, his stenographer, Mrs. Frank Miller, and three negro employees, were arrested. They were charged with manufacturing and possessing liquor and with possessing property designed for its manufacture. Kessler contended that he was the owner of the J. B. Kessler Salvage company and that he had had no knowledge of the presence of the intoxicating beverage making outfit in the building he occupied. Similar statements were made by the four other persons apprehended.

Books and records confiscated by the dry sleuths are expected to lead to new discoveries and possibly the exposure of a gigantic interstate rum ring. All bills of lading and other papers found will be traced in an effort to determine the identity of persons involved in the operation of the plant.

Lady Astor Tells Views of Politics And Motherhood

New York, September 10.—(AP)—Women will play an increasingly important part in national and international politics, thinks Viscountess Astor, American-born member of British parliament, as she learns to differentiate between "mother love" and "smother love."

ROCHESTER MAN ABDUCTED BRIDE OFFICERS ARE TOLD

Pittsburgh, Pa., September 10.—(AP)—Alleged to have abducted Mrs. Mary Nowack, 18, from Rochester, N. Y., Frank Kessler, 27, of Rochester, was held for federal court today under $25,000 bond by a United States commissioner. A charge of violating the Mann act was placed against him. Mrs. Nowack, a recent bride, was held as a material witness.

ISAAC WOLFGANG HANGS FOR DEATH OF L. A. OFFICER

GAS CONSUMERS WIN SUIT IN NASHVILLE

Nashville, Tenn., September 10.—(AP)—A temporary injunction was granted today by Judge F. M. Garard, of the county criminal court, restraining the Nashville Gas & Heating company from paying the city 5 per cent of its gross receipts, restraining the city from demanding such payment, restraining the state public utilities commission from including such payments as a proper charge in fixing rates, and finally restraining all defendants from imposing the 5 per cent burden on gas consumers residing outside the city.

The court order was issued in answer to a bill of injunction filed by gas consumers in which it is alleged that an ordinance passed by the city council in 1911 providing for the 5 per cent payment is unconstitutional, and that since the passage of the public utilities commission act the charge has been passed to the consumer instead of falling upon the company and its stockholders.

SLAYER OF FIVE MUST FACE JURY

Conway, S. C., September 10.—(AP)—Edmund D. Bigham, alleged slayer of five members of the Bigham family in Florence county more than five years ago, is scheduled to face his third jury trial in the Horry county courthouse here the latter part of this month. The forty-year-old farmer has been twice found guilty of murder and each time was sentenced to the electric chair, but the supreme court has granted him a new trial in each case.

The death sentence has been imposed three times since he was first convicted in Florence county in the spring of 1921.

In both of his trials Bigham was found guilty of the murder of L. Smiley Bigham, his brother. He also stands indicted for the alleged murder of his mother, Mrs. Dora Bigham, widow of a former state senator, his sister, Mrs. Marie Black, and John and Leo McCracken, young adopted children of Mrs. Black.

The tragedy occurred on the afternoon of January 15, 1921, at the Bigham plantation near Pamlico. Edmund attempted to establish an alibi at his first trial, and in this was supported by his wife and two young daughters. They swore that all three of them were at the home of a neighbor when the homicides occurred.

The defense, adhering to the alibi plea, has endeavored to show at the previous trials that Smiley Bigham, unbalanced by financial and other worries, killed the other members of the family and committed suicide. His body was not found until the day after the tragedy. It was lying in a clump of bushes some three-quarters of a mile from the Bigham home, and a pearl-handled revolver was loosely grasped in his hand. The prosecution contended that Edmund Bigham placed the weapon in his brother's hand after the latter had become cold in death.

The second trial of the case was held here in the fall of 1924. Great crowds thronged the courthouse every day during the two weeks that the trial was under way. An effort by the defense to delay the trial by a motion to quash it on the ground that the supreme court had reversed the finding of the Horry court, was defeated.

Solicitor L. M. Gasque has been assisted in the prosecution by Philip H. Arrowsmith, of Florence, former family counsel for the Bighams. The case was set for trial at the summer term of court here but the unexpected length of some cases involving bank failures resulted in a postponement.

DRY LAW VIOLATOR AWAITS FRIENDS' AID

Tallahassee, Fla., September 10.—(AP)—Held incommunicado in the Burt county jail for violating the prohibition laws, Roy Carson, farmer, tonight awaited action of friends to restore him to a regular diet.

Carson, who must serve 60 days in jail, the first and last 20 of which provide for a bread and water menu, has attracted the aid of J. H. Chatt, farmer and brother of Judge Orville Chatt, who imposed sentence. Meanwhile, Thomas Nelson, also a farmer who received a similar sentence, was given a respite to arrange his affairs before he entered jail.

R. C. Hunter, Oklawaha attorney, whom J. H. Chatt hired to free his life-long friend, today said he was considering an appeal to the federal district court on the ground that the sentence was cruel, unreasonable and contrary to the constitution. The Nebraska state supreme court recently upheld the sentence when Carson and Nelson appealed.

Bird Dog Stolen.

RECREATED BANK OPENS NOVEMBER 1

Completely reorganized and with a capital stock of $50,000, the Farmers and Traders bank, which closed its doors with the failure of the Bankers Trust company, will be reopened for business about November 1, according to announcement Friday by W. S. Witham, who was succeeded as president of the institution by W. D. Manley, many years ago, before the crash of the banker's enterprises.

The new institution will be known as the Peoples bank and will be operated as a state bank under the state banking department. Reorganization probably will be completed by November 1, Mr. Witham said. Several of Mr. Witham's associates who had been with him in the original organization of the Bankers Trust company met with him Thursday and subscribed practically all of the $50,000 capital stock.

Dr. John Powell was chairman of the meeting Thursday, which was attended by Dr. W. A. Arnold, Dr. Luther P. Baker and Guy Smith. The charter will be obtained through the state banking department, which has approved organization plans.

"We want an old-time Witham bank—one in which the stockholders are many and the confidence strong," declared Mr. Witham. "It will be as strong a bank for its size as any financial institution in the state of Georgia."

With the crash of Manley's affairs, the Farmers and Traders bank was thrown into bankruptcy, and its president has been placed under 19 state and federal counts. Several of his associates also face indictments on state and federal charges.

"The old bank has been liquidated," Dr. Powell said, "and will pay off 75 per cent, according to present indications. The people in that section have faith in Mr. Witham and in his banking integrity and they are supporting the movement."

Another meeting of those interested in the bank will be held today and probably will result in naming its officials and directors.

Chicago, September 10.—(AP)—G. K. Rutledge, 45, once influential in the Ku Klux Klan in Illinois, who later was interested in "Tolerance," an anti-klan publication, but eventually returned to the klan, was found dead of gas today.

The police believe he committed suicide, also they said he may have turned on the gas accidentally. He was editor of a weekly newspaper in Park Ridge, a suburb. His widow and 8-year-old daughter are visiting in Louisville, Ky.

Tremendous Crowds throng Willys-Overland Showroom to see these Amazing Bargains

PEOPLE were dumbfounded—literally spellbound—when they saw the cars and looked at the prices yesterday.

All day long they poured in—from 9 o'clock in the morning they came in one steady stream.

Even at midnight—as this advertisement is being written—crowds still throng the showroom to see these wonderful cars.

One man came in—looked at the price on an Overland Six Sedan and asked to use our 'phone. He called a friend in Cartersville, told him the price and within ten minutes after entering our salesroom had placed an order for two cars.

The news spread like wild-fire—whole families came—fathers and mothers—sons and daughters—bankers and farmers—every age—and every station in life was represented.

Traffic police held the crowd while hundreds thronged about the cars.

"Wonderful value"—"Amazing prices," "I've never seen such bargains in my life"—These are some of the things that people said. And they backed their judgment with an avalanche of orders.

Friendly competitors—men long seasoned in the selling of automobiles—frankly told us they had never seen the equal of this sale before.

PRAYER—Salvation and glory and honor and power unto the Lord our God.

NEW YORK POLITICS.
With the republican and democratic state conventions in New York both set for September 27, the respective party leaders of that great Empire state are having hard times to find suitable candidates for governor.

Of course if Governor Smith will consent to run again that will settle it so far as the democrats go. But the republicans are much more confused.

Young Colonel Roosevelt, who went down to defeat at the last election, has been speaking around and apparently trying to edge in, but there doesn't seem to be any definite desire for him.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, Charles D. Hillis and Ogden L. Mills have all issued ultimatums that they cannot be induced to offer.

It appears now that perhaps Attorney General Ottinger may be interested.

According to New York dispatches, the republican leaders have about reached the conclusion, however, that the party will have to literally concede a candidate.

In the meantime former Mayor Hylan, of New York city, is threatening to enter as an independent candidate for governor. He would under the New York election law be required to furnish a petition signed by 12,000 qualified voters before his name could be put on the ballot.

Discussing the Hylan threat, The New York Times passes him this choice morsel:

"The intent of this latest outburst of Mr. Hylan is plain enough. He has cherished an Indian-like resentment against Governor Smith ever since the democratic primary in this city a year ago which pricked the bubble of Mayor Hylan's ambition for another term at the city hall. After that it was an inevitable inference, by Hylan logic, that 'Al' Smith is 'subversive to the Wall Street public utility interests.' To defeat such a deep-seated traitor to the people is naturally the strong desire of the unsullied patriot, but he mournfully declares that the politicians have so arranged it that after the state convention it will be 'too late' to nominate him independently. Legally, this is not the case, and, morally, we had supposed that Mr. Hylan belonged to the class of men whose soul is their own star, and for whom 'nothing comes early or too late.'"

The difficulty the republicans are experiencing in getting one of the nationally-known men to offer for governor is extremely significant. It shows first, that the candidacy of Governor Smith for another term is practically assured, and, second, that his personal and party followings are so strong, and his running record so unbeatable, that republicans of outstanding position do not cherish the job of trying to do what seems to be the impossible.

In the meantime Senator Wadsworth, who has his own troubles this year, is keeping entirely out of it.

It appears now that perhaps Attorney General Ottinger may be interested.

According to New York dispatches, the republican leaders have about reached the conclusion, however, that the party will have to literally concede a candidate.

In the meantime former Mayor Hylan, of New York city, is threatening to enter as an independent candidate for governor. He would under the New York election law be required to furnish a petition signed by 12,000 qualified voters before his name could be put on the ballot.

Discussing the Hylan threat, The New York Times passes him this choice morsel:

"The intent of this latest outburst of Mr. Hylan is plain enough. He has cherished an Indian-like resentment against Governor Smith ever since the democratic primary in this city a year ago which pricked the bubble of Mayor Hylan's ambition for another term at the city hall. After that it was an inevitable inference, by Hylan logic, that 'Al' Smith is 'subversive to the Wall Street public utility interests.' To defeat such a deep-seated traitor to the people is naturally the strong desire of the unsullied patriot, but he mournfully declares that the politicians have so arranged it that after the state convention it will be 'too late' to nominate him independently. Legally, this is not the case, and, morally, we had supposed that Mr. Hylan belonged to the class of men whose soul is their own star, and for whom 'nothing comes early or too late.'"

The difficulty the republicans are experiencing in getting one of the nationally-known men to offer for governor is extremely significant. It shows first, that the candidacy of Governor Smith for another term is practically assured, and, second, that his personal and party followings are so strong, and his running record so unbeatable, that republicans of outstanding position do not cherish the job of trying to do what seems to be the impossible.

In the meantime Senator Wadsworth, who has his own troubles this year, is keeping entirely out of it.

LACK OF CLEANLINESS.

Atlantans who have recently returned from Havana, and others who have returned from Europe, remark upon the cleanliness of foreign cities as compared to Atlanta and to other American cities.

Atlanta, perhaps, is no more unclean than other cities of the same size in this country, but it is true—and shamefully true—that American cities generally are not kept as clean as foreign cities.

Less attention is paid to trees and shrubbery, and to keeping the streets clear of trash and garbage. Less attention is paid to parks and to general sanitation in American cities than in foreign cities. The reason, perhaps, is our spirit of commercialism that gives little thought to altruistic things, but it is something that we should check up on, and remedy as far as humanly possible.

A well-known English writer who toured this country a few months ago was asked to state his main impression of America. He replied with reluctance but with evident sincerity that he had found everything "most untidy." That was a mild way of expressing disgust at America's lack of cleanliness. It is as true in New York or in Chicago as it is in Atlanta. We should not be too busy to keep our city streets clean and to give close attention also to sanitation.

DEFEAT OF LENROOT.

The defeat of Senator Lenroot, republican, of Wisconsin, for renomination, is perhaps the hardest blow struck at President Coolidge in any of the state primaries.

It will be recalled that the president personally referred to him in his address at the unveiling of the Erickson monument. It was undoubtedly a political mistake—a mistake that President Wilson made in 1918 in more than one instance.

In the Lenroot fight the president's personal endorsement made the La Follette faction even more resentful, and from that day until the counting of the ballots the La Follette machine, with all of its old-time fire and capitalization of prejudices, was kept rolling rough-shod over the state, with Governor Blaine, the La Follette candidate against Lenroot, the beneficiary.

The fact that Senator Lenroot conducted the fight on the floor of the senate for the world court resolution did not cause his defeat. It was used as a weapon to arouse prejudices among a strong alien population, and a great German vote in the Milwaukee section. The fact that Lenroot stands four-square as an administration leader was the real issue. Reduced to its final analysis, therefore, the real issue became Coolidge himself. The La Follette organization is a bitter antagonist of the president. It is made up of reds, radicals, socialists, farm-laborers, un-partisan leaguers and every other group of irreconcilables and administration haters. It has been the peculiar tactfulness of La Follette leadership to coordinate these groups, when fired to real fighting action, as it was when young La Follette ran to succeed his father, and as again this year in the fight on Lenroot.

The senate will lose one of the strongest men on the republican side when Senator Lenroot retires on March 4. He is a man of great ability, of sound views, and possesses an element of statesmanship that is refreshing in a state over-riden with petty and machine politics and with radicalism as is Wisconsin.

JUDGE H. M. REID.

The judiciary lost one of its most venerable and distinguished members when Judge Harry M. Reid, presiding judge of the Atlanta city court for more than a quarter of a century, died. He enjoyed close, loyal friendships among members of the bar, and perhaps no judge was ever more deeply and earnestly loved by those who practiced in his court. He was a great jurist in his profound knowledge of the law. He was always fair. His high integrity personally and his unimpeachable honor professionally made him outstanding as a judge in this city and state.

The state had no better judge than he and no finer type of man ever lived.

It's always Labor Day in the political game.

Still, the office that gets away may grow bigger while they're waiting to run for it again.

The lesson of this year's weather is that it's wise to save for several months of rainy days.

Even if your winter's coal is in, you won't have to advertise for something else to worry about.

If your troubles crowd you, saddle 'em on the world that made 'em and whistle on your way.

Prosperity has given the country so much it ought to have an open purse for the community chest.

On the authority of one disappointed office-seeker, politics means hell and burrah.

It's an all-around meet-me-at-the-fair proposition now.

The campaign orators having cornered the stumps, the bootleggers now have less jugging space.

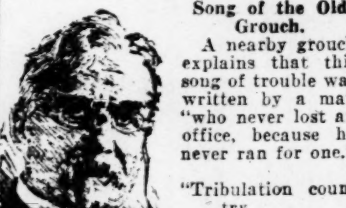

It's a job to preserve the big peach crop; the stills don't make white mule brandy.

It's a poor motorist that can't support a couple of ordinary tiling stations.

In case of soliciting rain for the home gardens, by all means avoid the deluge habit.

LIGHTS OF NEW YORK

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

New York, September 10.—There is a place down in Greenwich street not too far from Wall which can conveniently be referred to as the Sizzle club, although that isn't the right name. It's near enough, though, and anybody who has been to New York within the last few years and visited friends in the financial district will probably recognize the oasis whose delights I am about to embellish. There are, of course, more effete and elaborate gin mills in the immediate neighborhood, but for downright efficiency, naivete, and the pre-Volsteadian clamor the Sizzle club is heartily recommended for first honors. I say naive, and the pre-Volsteadian operate on the idea that there may be a certain law relative to the sale of alcoholic beverages, but they have only heard faint rumors of its existence.

Although this genial establishment is about as exclusive as Central park, there is a gesture of discrimination to separate the wheat from the chaff. Anybody who holds a pale green card bearing the place's name and the name of the bearer, or anybody else, can get in, by flourishing it at the door separating the barroom from the restaurant approached directly from the street. If you have no card, a fat man, lacking a collar and sporting horned-rimmed glasses, submits you to a brief questionnaire. If you can supply the right answer to his geographical queries and show you have been there before or know someone who has—you are forthwith admitted with a shove of the swinging door and a jerk on a piece of clothesline dangling nearby. A gong rings briskly and you walk down a few steps, round a turn and find yourself surveying a gay and convivial scene.

The first thing that strikes the eager eye in a square room bustling with the warmth and murmur of Bacchanalian activity is the bar, an heroic structure running the entire width of the rear of the room. You can't actually see the bar, but you sense its presence by the animated, white-coated figures behind it and the surging fringe of customers in front. This fringe consists of at least three layers of patrons and no flying wedge of yore, designed to shatter a Harvard line, could break up the thirsty formation. It must take at least three hours of patient waiting and ordering to work your way right up to the bar itself.

But you don't have to actually be able to grip the sacred fount in order to quaff. There are other ways. You may, if you are lucky, grab a seat at one of the tables with which the rest of the room is covered or slide up to the outskirts of the bar and yell your order. If you choose a table, a waiter will take your order and if you care for anything to eat. Then, if it is your first visit, you realize that this extraordinary place quietly maintains a cuisine—and incidentally serves one of the best business lunches around town. The ability to serve a good meal is the Sizzle club's asset in the hole and perhaps explains its tremendous success.

Whoever conceived the idea in the first place realized that to distinguish it from the mass of other liquor emporiums in the vicinity the club would have to furnish its thirsty customers with the means of obtaining a good meal to wash their refreshment down. A great many speakasies failed to embrace the fundamental idea that after a man has consumed a certain amount of liquor his mind turns to more solid matters—and have retired from the field of liquid endeavor.

The vice president of a world-famous insurance company and a vocal office champion of the 18th amendment as well, sneaked away late one afternoon and at the Sizzle bar noticed one of his clerks, whom he had set upon on an important errand an hour before. Before the V. P. could escape he was recognized; then followed a hasty conference and a few days later the undelivered found himself parked at a desk inside his backside's private office.

Looking and Listening

BY SAM W. SMALL.

THE "PO' FOKES" OF GEORGIA.

It has been altogether too common for people to refer in discussions to "the poor folks of Georgia," carrying on the suggestion that the majority of our fellow-citizens are living on the ragged edges of prevailing poverty. It is not so. The latest trustworthy statistics show that there are only 8 of the 48 states of the union that have in their pauper institutions fewer public dependents, per 100,000 of population than has Georgia.

In this state every 100,000 of the inhabitants furnish more than 20 dependent paupers, while New Hampshire, with more than double our wealth per capita, furnishes 195 publicly supported paupers per 100,000 of population. The ratio in the state of Massachusetts is 141, in Ohio, 114, in Indiana 104, and in England, California the proportion is 138 to 100,000.

Remember, also, that the negro population of Georgia is 40 per cent of the total, while in New Hampshire it is one-seventieth of the whole, and in the other states named is but little larger.

Then, why pick on Georgia? Our industrious people are doing fairly well, but there are more and more self-indulgent than in thirty-nine of the other states of the union!

A Good Physician Gone.

The death of Dr. Kells Boland takes away one of those rare benevolent spirits that leave the living poorer when he departs.

Dr. Boland was a pioneer in the treatment of malformations for people from all sections of the south. He gave free treatment to many children who were unable to pay.

He was an earnest church worker, and was one of the oldest members of Trinity church.

Eagles' Steward, Porter Indicted Following Raid

C. J. Shea, steward, and Lewis Logan, porter of the Atlanta race, Fraternal Order of Eagles, were jointly indicted Friday by the Fulton county grand jury on three misdemeanor charges.

The indictments are the result of a raid on headquarters of the organization, at 34 1/2 Peachtree street, last Saturday night, in which several hundred bottles of beer and a small quantity of corn whiskey were confiscated.

The first misdemeanor indictment alleges violation of the prohibition law in that 24 gallons of "home brew," 3,200 pints of beer, 15 gallons of corn whiskey, five pints of corn liquor and a one-gallon jug of whiskey were possessed by the accused.

The other two indictments charge manufacturing liquor and possessing apparatus for manufacturing intoxicating beverages.

LANGLEY APPEARS BEFORE BOARD TO ASK PAROLE

Any conclusions of the board or action resulting from its recommendations, if announced, will be given out through the department of justice at Washington.

Omaha, Neb., September 10.—(AP) Declaring he hoped to be able to "rouse the people of Pennsylvania to their chance to rid themselves of corruption," Senator George W. Norris, Republican, said he would today definitely announce he would campaign in that state this fall in behalf of William L. Wilson, democrat, candidate for senator.

Senator Norris said he would suggest some campaigning he planned to do in Nebraska this fall to aid Wilson.

E. Waldron, Veteran In Western Union Service, Succumbs

News was received in Atlanta Friday of the death on September 5, at Farmville, Va., of Edward E. Waldron, who for many years was connected with the Western Union Telegraph company in Atlanta.

Mr. Waldron, on account of his long service with the company, covering a period of more than forty years, was retired with a life pension on June 1, 1918. He left Atlanta in good spirits and in good health, though with evidence of fatigue after his many years of service, much of which was as night chief operator at the Atlanta office.

He was one of the most popular men ever in the employ of the company here in Atlanta, and was beloved by all his associates. He was the former home of his wife, who was Miss Roberta Constable, of that town.

Mr. Waldron was born in Ohio, and when a young man entered the service of the Canadian Pacific Railway company as locomotive fireman, later transferring to the Western Union office in New York city, where he learned telegraphy and worked as an operator a short time, being transferred to Jacksonville, where he worked until July 15, 1888, when he came to Atlanta with the same company.

AWYERS' CLUB HOLDS MONTHLY MEETING

An entertaining musical program consisting of a solo by Miss Irene Landers, accompanied at the piano by Miss Clara Bell Adams, members of the club, and several impromptu addresses by club members, featured the monthly meeting Friday afternoon at 6:30 o'clock of the Lawyers' club of Atlanta at the Kimball house.

Clarence Calloun, president of the club, who presided at the meeting, said a glowing tribute to the late Judge H. M. Reid, for more than a quarter of a century presiding judge of the Atlanta city court and one of the south's foremost jurists, who died early Thursday morning. He named the entire club as a honorary escort at the funeral, requesting all members to meet at the First Presbyterian church at 2:30 o'clock today to pay homage to their deceased friend and club member.

Ed A. Stephens, assistant solicitor general, J. S. Huff, Preston Arkwright, Jr., and Ralph Williams were elected to membership in the club by unanimous vote at the meeting.

Virginia B. Moore, who was nominated in the country primary Wednesday for judge of the Fulton superior court to fill the expired term of Judge W. D. Ellis, who did not ask for reelection, was called upon for a brief address upon the subject of "How to Keep Down Opposition." He was unanimously elected to the committee.

Major Charles E. Stokes, of Fort McPherson, a former member of the club, gave an account of his services in the army since his departure from Atlanta and expressed his pleasure in again meeting with the club.

A unanimous vote of thanks to the entertainer, the club, which staged the annual barbecue at the club at Lakewood, was given, following the report of the committee submitted by John A. McCullum, chairman. Other members of the committee were: Ernest Bell, Clifford Thomas and Wallace Lyons.

FACE DISFIGURED WITH PIMPLES AND BLACKHEADS

Druggist proves a friend in need

Kalispeit, Mont., March 1:—"Two years ago my face was an awful sight. The skin broke out with pimples and blackheads and itched all the time. I washed it frequently and applied various salves, but they helped little. One day I asked a druggist for a good cure for my case, and that night I took home a small jar of Resinol Ointment. Every morning and night I washed my face and applied the ointment, rubbing it in good. After a few treatments I noticed the pimples were starting to decrease and in two or three weeks they were practically gone. I was so well pleased with the results that I now keep Resinol on hand and recommend it whenever I can." (Signed) Elkin E. Berry, 1028 Third Ave. West.

"MY LIFE STORY"

Written by Rudolph Valentino

'Sheik' Undergoes 'Siege of Tailors' In London Hotel

Rudolph Valentino, "The Great Lover," reveals his innermost thoughts on the women who have surrounded him since his first day in London.

"The American girl leads the way in beauty. I married an American girl," he writes.

"I should say that in other countries one out of very 50 women will be beautiful, but in America only one out of 50 will be plain."

Read of his bombardment by London journalists.

With charming frankness he sets down his first day's experiences in London with the American girl married for love alone—the radiant Natacha Rambova.

Initial personal impressions that he set down in his diary—his very soul thoughts.

"I have lived my first day in London. And in no way has it disappointed me."

President Natchitch of the assembly briefly expressed the league's pleasure at receiving Germany. Sir Austen Chamberlain, the British foreign secretary, led the principal delegations in a handsome procession past the German seats.

Cameras clicked as the films, preserving to posterity this epochal scene in world history, were taken. The strong light beams lit the faces in the Salle de la Reformation.

The assembly hall contained the largest crowd of spectators yet seen, stunningly good. Frau Stresemann and her son, Wolfgang, were there, the foreign minister's wife dressed in a white, summery costume.

One incident marred the official welcome. Swiss gendarmes arrested a Russian who, it was charged, planned to assassinate the German foreign minister, Dr. Stresemann.

The Swiss delegate, in revenge for the assassination several years ago of the Swiss emissary, Jorowsky, in Geneva.

Ideals of Universality.

"Germany is determined to adopt the ideals of universality as the basis of her policy," Stresemann said.

"We belong to peoples seeking to emerge from the light from the darkness. May the league's work be based on the ideals of peace, freedom and unity to which we pledge earnest devotion."

And the permanence of peace.

"No more war, no more suffering hereafter with our international differences," he said. "We will go on to the future with private individuals. France has no further need of heroic demonstrations than has Germany, and in the future we will work together like brothers."

Stresemann emphasized the disarmed Germany's desire to further world disarmament.

"The Versailles treaty ascertained Germany's disarmament, and marked the beginning of general disarmament," he said.

Work Is Expedited.

With Germany formally installed as a member of the league, the assembly began to expedite its work with a view to adjourning as soon as possible in order to permit the launching of new projects.

Pressure is being brought to bear on the league's first commission to accept the project of Motta regarding election of non-permanent members to the council.

Three non-permanent seats will be apportioned to Latin America. The assembly expects to approve of the election of the non-permanent seat holders Monday.

Edvard Benes, foreign minister of Czechoslovakia and president of the league, told the United Nations that the present solution of the council membership is only makeshift.

"The proposed reconstruction, however, means the further democratization of the council, allowing for more equitable distribution of the seats," he said. "It also permits the collaboration of these states whose claims to permanent seats have not been satisfied."

Favors Disarmament.

Stresemann emphasized Germany's desire to further world disarmament.

"The Versailles treaty ascertained Germany's disarmament," he said, "and marked the beginning of general disarmament."

Recalling the six years' delay between the creation of the league and Germany's admission and referring to the difficulties of last March, Stresemann said these obstacles offer particular assurance that Germany's entry into the league was based on a firm foundation and promised fruitful results.

"Catastrophic war," he said, "brought humanity to its senses regarding the task which lay before it upon all peoples. Witnessing in many states groups of the population engaged in an abyss—classes of population which are capable of offering the most valuable intellectual and economic contributions to the state. It is our duty to restore the old economic system with a new program but rested on the unwritten law of the traditional exchange of goods throughout the world."

"We must build the bridge between the trading nations and not erect economic barriers between states."

Peace Is Urged.

"The Downside of the League of Nations is that it has brought together peoples with different blood, different languages and different home lands, but this national diversity must not hinder the development of civilization. The political expression of these thoughts is found in the duty of the nations peacefully to cooperate."

NON-PERMANENT SEAT NOT SOUGHT BY CUBA.

Geneva, Switzerland, September 10. (AP)—Cuba has informed her fellow Latin-American states that she will not be a candidate this year for a non-permanent seat on the League of Nations council.

This announcement, made by Dr. Jose Cortina at a meeting of representatives of 12 republics, leaves choice of the three Latin-American seats probably from a list comprising Uruguay, Chile, Colombia and Salvador.

Cuba had been prominently mentioned, and appeared almost certain of election. Cuban spokesmen simultaneously announced that their government preferred for the league to collaborate actively with the movement seeking special honors.

Whitfield County Furnishes Congressman for First Time

JUDGE TARVER NOMINATED IN 7TH DISTRICT

BY W. M. SAPP.

Dalton, Ga., September 10.—For the first time in the history of the county, Whitfield will furnish the next representative in congress from the seventh district of Georgia, and not since nearly 50 years ago has the county sent a representative to congress, having seven of the counties of the seventh district, been honored with the election of one of its citizens to congress.

Judge M. C. Tarver, of Dalton, judge of the Cherokee circuit, received the nomination for congress Wednesday, defeating his two opponents, W. M. Mundy, of Cedartown, and Claude H. Porter, of Rome.

The result in this county was: Tarver, 850; Mundy, 85, and Porter, 221.

He was born in Whitfield county, September 25, 1885; worked his way through school and graduated in law from Mercer university in June, 1904.

He is a member of the Methodist church, is an Odd Fellow, member of the J. O. U. A. M., W. O. W., Red Men, associate member of Daughters of America.

He served as a member of the Georgia house of representatives from Whitfield county in 1909-1912 and was state senator from the forty-third district in 1913-14. On January 1, 1917, he succeeded Judge A. W. Fite as judge of the Cherokee circuit, and has served continuously since.

Judge Tarver is positive in his convictions and possesses marked ability as a debater and parliamentarian. Among the planks of his platform upon which he was elected were those favoring restricted immigration, farm relief, federal aid for public schools under state control and distribution, and opposition to any modification of the prohibition laws.

The returns from all the counties of the district are incomplete, but the majority of Judge Tarver will be approximately 1,000 votes.

The campaign just closed was one of the most hotly contested races in the history of the district and the three candidates visited and made in every county and in many of the districts. The successor to Hon. Gordon W. Mundy will assume his new duties in Washington on March 4, next, unless congress is sooner convened.

"Oh—I'm Joel Hurt," he said. "That can't be, said the real Mr. Hurt, but I'm not Joel Hurt, and where is your four-room apartment?"

"I haven't any."

"What did you tell this young lady you had for the first time?"

"Oh, I did it just for fun," replied Mitchell.

"And they took Mitchell by the arm and sent him up to the city jail, but not just for fun. And his case will be carried before the federal grand jury which body never does anything for fun."

In the meantime, officers are working in an effort to identify Mitchell with a series of advertisements in local papers which have brought up suspicious "middle-aged" and other women to this city and subsequently to police barracks to lodge complaints.

Most of the counties in this race were complete and official and a total of 85 had reported either complete or almost complete returns.

The race between Calvin W. Parker and George Lankford for the short term, long term, Parker having 148 unit votes to 86 for Lankford, with 91 counties reported, most of them complete and official.

THOMASVILLE WANTS CONFEDERATE REUNION

Thomasville, Ga., September 10.—(AP)—Georgia Confederate veterans need never want for a meeting place as long as Thomasville is going good, says the chamber of commerce.

The Georgia camp has been invited to come to Thomasville this year or next year or at any time and they will be most graciously and cordially received, chamber officials say.

academic activities of the students, including a library, lecture room, chapel, student lounge, ladies' parlor, and the administration offices. On the ground floor there will be a kitchen, parlors and dining room to accommodate 125 men. The contract price for this building is $130,824.

The dormitory is to house 125 men, and will be built at a contract price of $89,227.

The college property includes a total of 55 acres of land across from the Methodist orphanage on the south-east side of Deane, 45 acres of the land being in heavy timber.

Under rules of the state committee, selection of a city in which to hold the convention was left to the subcommittee. T. E. Ryals, member of the committee from Macon, announced that he had completed arrangements in that city to obtain an auditorium for the convention. The committee adopted a resolution thanking Mr. Ryals for this service.

The two candidates in the second primary for governor will be assessed $150 each. Counties will be requested to print the official ballot for the election instead of having all the ballots printed by the state committee.

Mrs. Bessie Anderson, secretary of the committee, will send copies of the official ballot to the representative county committees.

G. E. Maddox, chairman of the state democratic executive committee, presided at the session. He announced that a meeting of the subcommittee will be held in Macon October 13 to hear any contests that may be filed.

Contracts for the erection of an administration building and a dormitory for Columbia Theological seminary on the seminary property on Oak road, one-half mile from College avenue, were let Friday morning to J. S. McCauley & Company at a total price of $230,051. The work is to be completed by July 15, 1927, and the buildings are to be occupied by the seminary in September of next year.

Plans for ground breaking ceremonies to inaugurate at the site of the seminary are being made and actual work of clearing the ground is to start Monday following the ceremonies.

Removal of the college from Atlanta will take effect during August of 1927. The current term will start on Wednesday, September 15, at the present college location in Columbia, S. C., with the largest enrollment of new students since 1861, when 31 new students enrolled. So far a total of 42 new students have been accepted.

The total enrollment of Columbia seminary for the new term is double that of last year, and is seen as a favorable reaction of the church to the program of removal to Atlanta. Dr. William C. Robinson, of Gettysburg, Pa., who was elected to the chair of history at the last meeting of the board to succeed the late Dr. Richard C. Reed, will deliver one of the principal addresses at the term opening on September 15.

The contracts for the new buildings were let to the McCauley firm by the building committee of the seminary at a meeting at the headquarters, 17 Poplar street. The board is composed of Rev. Dr. E. L. Hill, of Athens, chairman; Rev. Dr. J. Sproule Lyons, Rev. Richard Orme Fenn, J. Bulow Campbell and Dr. R. T. Gillespie, president of the seminary.

UPSHAW PROBING CAMPBELL VOTES

Congressman William D. Upshaw, one of the defeated candidates on the list of official returns in the primary of Wednesday, announced Friday night that he will continue today investigations of alleged irregularities in the polling in Campbell county with a view of formally contesting the nomination of Leslie J. Steele from the fifth Georgia district in event reports made to his headquarters are substantiated.

There is a possibility of a demand for a recount on account of the closeness of the race if the congressman believes he can prove rumors of fraud. He said he probably will complete his probe today and will be ready to announce his decision.

Unsubstantiated evidence brought to me today discloses irregularities of rather sensational nature in Fulton and Douglas counties. Congressman Upshaw stated: "Whether these irregularities have changed the result of the election, I cannot yet state.

"I am sure that I cannot definitely announce whether I shall demand a recount until I have thoroughly investigated the irregularities. "Even though they had no bearing on my election, I believe they should be investigated for public protection. I might intimate that a thorough exposure of the primary might show a condition almost as bad as the recent primary in Pennsylvania."

While the congressman made it plain that he is not prepared to initiate any probe of the election, he stated he feels compelled to investigate reports of the importation of a $100,000 fund to defeat him and of the inability of certain registered voters to cast their ballots.

If the race is contested or a recount should give Upshaw Campbell, Steele and Afton would have eight county unit votes. It takes 10 to elect and the election would be thrown into the convention, with Walter A. Sims, third man in the race, as the key vote necessary to nominate.

If a recount should be granted, and if Upshaw should take Campbell from Steele, the race would be thrown into the convention. If, after full investigation, Steele's campaign manager and former congressman, might be a formidable contender for the nomination.

There are 18 county unit votes in the fifth district—Fulton and DeKalb each having six, and Campbell, Rockdale and Douglas each having two. The primary gave Steele, DeKalb, Campbell and Douglas; Upshaw, Fulton and Sims, Rockdale.

NINE AMENDMENTS TO BE SUBMITTED TO GEORGIA VOTERS

Nine constitutional amendments will be submitted to the people for ratification or rejection in the general election to be held November 2, and copies of these amendments will be printed in newspapers published in each congressional district, according to an announcement made Friday by Josephus Camp, state printer.

Since the last general election the legislature has held three sessions and amendments to be submitted were passed at those sessions. The amendments are largely local in nature and follow:

To allow Crisp county to increase bonded debt to develop electric power; to revise salary of judge of the Muscogee superior court; Chattahoochee county public bonds; state bonds to increase pay of teachers; bond issue for Lowndes college; to establish system of registering vital statistics and several local bond issues.

Merrick's Social Climbs Halted By Indictment

W. F. Merrick, young white man arrested recently by city detectives as an imposter in connection with the Coral Gables, was indicted Friday by the Fulton county grand jury on a misdemeanor charge growing out of passage of alleged bad checks.

The youth is alleged to have given a worthless check for $10, drawn on a Miami, Fla. bank. J. R. Rainer, of a local hotel, swore out the accusation against Merrick.

Merrick's aspiration along social lines were brought to a close recently on the even of an elaborate banquet at a fashionable hotel at which he was to act as host to a large number of popular members of the younger society group.

According to his statement to police he had "let" the celebrities of the city believe that he was the son of the Florida capitalist and was entertaining and being entertained as such.

TO HOLD LUNCHEON TO PUSH PROPOSED NEW CITY CHARTER

Edgar Neely, chairman of the luncheon committee of the business men of the city, has sent out letters announcing a luncheon in the interest of a new charter for Atlanta and the "get out the vote" campaign in which many civic organizations are cooperating.

The luncheon will take place at the Atlanta Athletic club on Wednesday, September 15, at 12:30. Speakers will be Ivan Allen, Joel Hunter, Edgar Watkins and Marvin Underwood. Mr. Neely will preside. The purpose of the luncheon is to secure the backing of the business men of the city in the effort to secure a vote on the council manager form of city government.

Under the initiative clause in the present charter it is mandatory to hold an election on any ordinance suggested when a petition on that ordinance is signed by 10 per cent of the registered voters of Atlanta. It is planned to secure the signatures to this petition during the city primary on September 22. There will be a booth near every polling place in the city and anyone in favor of a vote on the new charter for Atlanta may sign the petition.

After the petition is presented to the council in 1927 council will have the alternative of passing the ordinance or submitting it to a vote of the people within 30 days after the presentation of the petition. The petition will call on the legislature to pass the council manager charter for Atlanta.

Mr. Neely asks all citizens interested in the proposed change in Atlanta's form of government to attend the luncheon. Reservations may be made by calling Walnut 8264.

Bobby Displays Rare Form in First Round

Short Hills, N. J., September 10.—(AP)—Bobby Jones, the Atlanta marvel, is in form. His rivals practicing with him for next week's national amateur golf tournament agree to that.

The champion, playing over the Baltusrol course yesterday with Watts Gunn, his pal and golfing enemy from the home town, showed that it will take considerable golf to prevent him winning the title for the third successive year.

Bobby shot four birdies in a row at the start of the round. Although he finished with a 75, the strokes above par for a difficult course, his score was less than other competitors have had in practice rounds. Gunn chalked up 81.

Tech High Developing Unusually Heavy Line

From the present outlook, Tech High is to have a team that will be a menace to prep football teams throughout the south. Coach Tolbert says they are rapidly rounding into shape.

The Tech High line will be one of the biggest that ever fought under Smith colors. The backfield is made up of fast and fairly light men. And Tolbert has some good reserve material to back up his varsity.

To begin with, the line will average close to six feet in height and 175 pounds in weight. Williams, at center, is the smallest in height, but makes up for it in weight. In scrimmage Friday he was snapping the ball well and was causing considerable trouble among the scrubs.

Rasneck and Maddox are a pair of guards that have had experience in prep circles. Fountain, at tackle, is a new recruit on the Smith team. In scrimmage he has shown his ability to use his weight to advantage, and working with Grubbs at end, cleared the way for numerous end runs in Friday's scrimmage.

On the other end of the line, Captain Davis holds down left flank, and was a star on defense, breaking through the scrubs for a four-yard loss. Wade, another big fellow, and also a newcomer on the Smith eleven, is being used at left tackle.

After the backfield things are looking quite so rosy. Tolbert has been running Waugh at quarter, Bardwell and Oliphant at halves and Johnson at full.

Waugh seems to have improved since last season and, judging from his gains yesterday, he should be able to make a better showing in prep circles this season. Oliphant showed up well on end of line.

The biggest man in the backfield is Johnson at fullback. Friday afternoon he was ripping the scrub line.

MILLE CORSON OVERWHELMED BY RECEPTION

New York, September 10.—(AP)—Mrs. Clemington Corson (Mills Gade), of this city, who recently swam the English channel, arrived at the quarantine station on the Aquitania today and was officially greeted by the mayor's reception committee. She will be taken from the liner later on a city tug and be received at city hall by Mayor Walker.

When informed that the metropolis was preparing a great welcome for her, Mrs. Corson appeared surprised. She cried when told that her two small children had been brought up from Virginia to meet her at the battery.

Mrs. Corson refused to consider any comparison with the champion swimmer of Miss Ederle's achievement, she said.

"It was marvelous that a girl of only 20 years should be able to do a thing like this, I did not believe that she could do it, but she did."

"There are two important phases in a woman's life. One when she is young and the other when she is a mother. Gertrude swam the channel as a young girl. I swam it as the mother of two children."

"I trusted to be guided rather than my body," she said, in describing her swim. "After a man or woman is in the water for ten hours it is no longer a question of whether you can swim, but plugging ahead, and this I did. I swam with my will."

She said that after she had been out from Cape Cod for 15, 16 and 17 hours, she was seized with cramps and suffered severely for about 20 minutes, but would not give up.

Mrs. Corson was taken from the liner Aquitania at the quarantine station aboard the city tug Macon and escorted up the bay by the mayor's reception committee.

Although a bit awed by her reception, she smiled as she looked out of the port windows as the craft neared the battery. Then she cheered from the battery to her mother. For she saw her children—Marjorie, aged 2 and Clemington, Jr., aged 4—held up by relatives. They were waving their hands at her. Mrs. Corson's eyes filled with tears and she buried her tanned face into a huge bouquet of American Beauty roses sent by Mayor Walker.

Crackers Even Series By Beating Pelicans In Second Game, 13-2

Last of Three Contests Scheduled Will Be Played Today Three New Orleans Hurlers Fought At Will By Niehoffians.

BY CLARENCE NIXON. Bert Niehoff's baseball crew turned the tables on the Pelicans from New Orleans, humiliated the Southern league leaders with a terrific batting attack from which three Pel flingers suffered and won the second game of the three-game series, 13 to 2, at Spiller field Friday afternoon. The game today starts at 3 o'clock.

The revenge was sweet and several Cracker sluggers enjoyed a perfect day at bat. The league leaders were set back over the way the homebats treated them in their march to the Southern league pennant. Hendrick, who had most of the fun in the initial game here, was completely out of luck as well as the rest of the penitents-seeking Pelicans.

Congressman Hilton and Moss were the unlucky twisters to draw assignments for the second set. Overcast started the battle but only lasted a little over four innings and Hilton was sent in to check the Cracker bats. He stood the gaff for one and one-third of an inning, when Moss was warmed up and sent in the box. Moss, like the game here, was completely out of luck as well as the rest of the penitents-seeking Pelicans.

The game was almost the same as the one Thursday, save for several one-headed plays by both sides and the fact that the Cracker bats were leaders in the play Friday. In the first game the Pelicans took first honors in every department of the game, getting his off three Cracker hurlers and scoring 13 runs, while yesterday the homebats battered three visiting moundsmen for 17 safe base knocks to score 13 runs.

Bert Niehoff evidently had bawled out several of his crew for they exhibited a much better brand of ball than that of the day before. Thursday it appeared as if some of the boys did not know what to do when they got on the sacks. Another good thing was that Bert himself was on the field to see that the boys were doing his instructions correctly.

Al Niehaus and "Curly" Haas enjoyed the game most of all. Niehaus bagged himself four hits and Haas got three safeties with two counters out of five trips up. Brock, Griffith and Durocher had a nice time in the game. Every Cracker collected a run with the exception of boss Niehoff.

The final inning, the Cracker skipper sent in his backfield to relieve the worn-out players, Roy Luebke, "Stuffy" McCrone and Eugene Suggs. McCrone took his place at the initial sack, to relieve Al Niehaus, who had himself ragged during the game, scoring four of the Cracker runs. Suggs took over Niehoff's post at second and Luebke did not look like a first baseman. They did not get a crack at the ball, however, but performed to the satisfaction of Mr. Niehoff.

Things started off right in the initial frame, three going up and coming down. The second inning for the Pel was a duplicate of the first but the Cracker bats were a bit more decided and scored a few runs.

Three counters were chalked up before Mr. Cengros could check the bats. Griffith and Haas went out but Niehoff doubled to left. Brock drew a base on balls and Leo Durocher cracked out a triple to center field and scored both Brock and Niehaus. Niehoff then singled to center to score Durocher. Murphy singled but Niehoff forced him at second.

Two innings passed with neither side scoring. The fourth frame the Pelicans scored two runs. Deal singled to center after Whaley had fouled out to Niehaus. Ewoldt then cracked out a double in the direction of Deal's single and Deal pulled up at third. Lingle then hit one to Niehaus, who bared the ball around the sack and scored. Niehoff then hit a double and both Deal and Ewoldt rapped home. Cengros hit into a double play to relieve the suspense, and Gardner fled out to Haas in center field to end the inning as well as the Pelicans' scoring.

Following the Pel's spurt, the homebats rallied in the fifth and scored two more runs. Bert Niehoff

RELAY SWIM AT CATALINI IS COMPLETED

Avalon, Catalini Island, Calif., September 10.—(AP)—The first relay swim across the Catalini Island channel was completed at 11:20 a. m. today. Beautiful Colonial Hall Chair Attracts Attention At Stephen Philibosian's

This beautiful chair on display at the store of Stephen Philibosian, Inc., has won much favorable comment during the last few days. It is of the colonial type of eighteenth century Georgian, with arms favored by cabinetmakers of colonial days because of their simplicity. The chair is made entirely of hickory and is covered with colorful cretonne. It makes a wonderful hall chair, when sturdiness and beauty are essential.—(adv.)

A FULTON FISH Is a FRESH FISH

Atlanta is one of the greatest fish eating cities in the country; probably the greatest, population and the fact that it is an inland city, considered. This is true because of the Fulton Market, where it is always possible to find fish that to all intents and purposes are as fresh as though they had just been taken out of the water.

This week we are offering the first Oysters of the season. Counts and selects are unusually fine and offer a pleasing change.

The best fish this week are Halibut, California Salmon, Lake Salmon, Red Snapper, and Flounder or Filet of Sole.

In addition to Fish we offer Vegetables, Fruits, Bakery Products and Meats either at 27 E. Alabama, 267 Peachtree or at the Municipal Market.

The Misty Pathway

By FLORENCE RIDDELL

INSTALLMENT XLII.

RICHENDA ATTEMPTS AN ESCAPE.

Fairways was nearly half a mile away—running as fast as his feet could carry him, putting still farther distance between himself and her. Jerome's brown visage came before her then. The boy's eyes were wide with excitement, his tongue poured out a mixed stream of English and Swahili from which Richenda gathered the sense of some unusual happening.

There had been a white bwana, a hunter, encamped in that distant forest and, barely an hour before, a rhinoceros, charging him, had ripped his side with its frontal horn till the blood gushed out in a stream that would not cease. So the tribesmen of a nearby village, knowing of Fairways' presence in the neighborhood, had sped to fetch him to this white brother who might, ere help could reach him, be sleeping in the arms of death.

Richenda gathered that Fairways had stopped only to snatch up a case of medical necessities which the camp possessed, to thrust a sun-teepee on his head and, without another minute's pause, had fled to that countryman who lay dying in the forest with only unskilled heathen to attend him.

There had been no time to spare. He had wasted none—had gone without a word, maybe without a thought upon the woman left now to her own devices in the deserted camp.

Richenda's moment had come. She glowed with the realization of this. Then came suddenly a little sense of shame. Was it taking advantage of his absence on a merciful errand? Was it . . . ? She battled the thoughts into silence. He had taken advantage of her own physical inferiority. The odds were even!

"Go quickly, the bwana will be hungry."

She was clinging to her garments with fingers that trembled with haste now, while a plan of campaign took form in her turmoil brain. Then she was in Fairways' tent, scanning the place with excited eyes. The case that held most necessary of all commodities—her money—would she thought, be in the long black uniform box he used. She tumbled at the fastenings with fierce hands. Locked. She rattled the hinges, tears of vexed excitement standing in her eyes, then sat back on her heels panting from exertion. Suppose he had taken the keys with him! Suppose she couldn't open this thing that seemed stout enough to resist her every effort! Suppose . . .

Then she saw that bunch of keys lying on the wicker table so close that she had but to stretch her arm to its full length to have them as her own. A moment later the black painted lid swung back upon its hinges and her fingers were delving deep under the pile of neatly laid clothing till they felt the soft leather of her writing case.

"Some day you shall have it back—still locked, untouched," he had told her. A little laugh of triumph came from her now. She had it back—and not from his lordly offering hands. By her own wit she had attained it!

The little key that had hung from a chain on her neck was in the gilt aperture then. Inside the case she found all as she had left it—papers and of ready money an amount large enough to last until she reached a bank from which she could draw, by means of her letter of credit, a still larger sum. She walked out of the tent hugging the little case close to her side.

Jerome was busy preparing afternoon tea and the delicately cut sandwiches upon which he prided himself.

She forced herself to eat, then called the boy to her side.

"Jerome," she said, "you must go to the bwana and see if he requires any help from you."

The boy hesitated. "Will memsahib come with me?" he asked.

"No, I shall stay here."

"Then I may not leave the memsahib—the bwana gave order."

Richenda frowned. So he had set a black boy on guard over her! She tingled with the insult of it. She did not know that Fairways had but flung a hurried word across his shoulders as he tore off: "Look after the memsahib, Jerome. See that no harm comes to her!"

Guile came to Richenda then.

"I shall be quite safe if I stay here," she said, slinging her rifle across her shoulders. "Nothing can harm me. The bwana has had no tea. Fill his vacuum flask and take it to him, Jerome."

The boy hesitated, twiddled an anxious toe among the withered grass, eyed her uncertainly.

"Do as I tell you!"

"But, memsahib—"

She flayed him then with angry words till he sulkily set about obeying her commands. But, though she had exacted apparent obedience, Richenda knew but little of the workings of the cunning native mind, of the curiosity with which each action of their European employers is watched, of the conversations in the primitive huts behind the camp when the doings of the day are discussed by the servants, when the very words which have passed between the white people are repeated and every action criticized.

"Look after the memsahib, Jerome." It meant more than one thing to the native boy, who knew quite well that once the memsahib had been brought back to the camp at midnight, the boy who, too, had watched those periods of silence, who, not half an hour before, had, by means of a quickly applied eye to a tiny split in the side of Fairways' tent, seen Richenda force her way into that tin box which the bwana always kept locked.

Behind his guileless brown face the agile native brain was working. The memsahib wanted, for reasons of her own, to be rid of him.

Such was the power of the white race that he could not bring himself to deliberately flout her order. Nevertheless, he had not the slightest intention of obeying it.

As is usual to the native African, the commands of a white woman meant nothing against the commands of a white man.

Jerome decided he would keep an eye on the memsahib. She watched until the tea and sandwiches were packed, then dismissed him with a terse command.

"Go quickly, the bwana will be hungry."

"N'dio, memsahib," he acquiesced cheerfully, and went on his way with running leaps.

Three minutes later Richenda herself was speeding down the slope of the hill in a direction opposite to that which the boy had taken, running westward to where, ten miles away, there lay the place she must reach with as little delay as possible. Her speed toned down to a sharp walk at length. She had reached flatter land now; she turned to a rough track which led toward the blackness of a forest near at hand.

The place was dark with dank coolness which rose from steamy undergrowth. Here a parakeet screamed shrilly as her footsteps broke across the quiet, there some more stealthy creature rustled among a clump of coarse, high fern. For an hour she hurried along the rough track which grew narrower as she covered more of its meandering way.

A bevy of native women broke through the trees, bow-backed, shaven-headed creatures, shoulders laden with neatly tied piles of dry sticks, naked brown babies astride their hips, these dribbling infants sucking contentedly at much-chewed ends of sugar cane.

"Wapi Abmani?" asked Richenda.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

THE PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN OF 1828 WAS BITTERLY CONTESTED AND RESULTED IN THE VICTORY OF ANDREW JACKSON OVER J. Q. ADAMS BY AN ELECTORAL VOTE OF 178 TO 23.

THE POPULAR VOTE, WHICH HAD BEEN ADOPTED IN MOST OF THE STATES BY THAT TIME, WAS 647,231 TO 509,097.

JACKSON WAS THE FIRST PRESIDENT TO COME FROM A LOG CABIN TO THE WHITE HOUSE.

ON THE DAY OF THE INAUGURAL RECEPTION A MOB OF BACKWOODSMEN SURGED THROUGH THE WHITE HOUSE, STANDING ON THE DAMASK-COVERED CHAIRS IN THEIR EAGERNESS TO SEE THEIR HERO.

ALL THE FORMER PRESIDENTS HAD BEEN ARISTOCRATS.

UNLIKE ADAMS, JACKSON'S FIRST STEP WAS TO TURN ALL HIS POLITICAL FOES OUT OF PUBLIC OFFICE AND REPLACE THEM WITH HIS FOLLOWERS.

IN LESS THAN A YEAR HE HAD REMOVED 1000 OFFICIALS AS AGAINST 100 BY ALL THE PRECEDING PRESIDENTS.

JACKSON JUSTIFIED THESE REMOVALS BY DECLARING THAT LONG TENURE OF OFFICE BREEDS 'CORRUPTION'.

THIS PRIZE OF A PRESIDENT REGARDING HIS FRIENDS WAS CALLED THE 'SPOILS SYSTEM' FROM THE PHRASE 'THE SPOILS BELONG TO THE VICTOR'.

SOME OF THESE ADVISORS WERE MEN OF GREAT ABILITY BUT THE PRESIDENT'S ENEMIES SCORNFULLY REFERRED TO THEM AS THE 'KITCHEN CABINET'.

STANLEY WILSON WAS THE ONLY ADVISOR WHO HAD NOT SERVED AS SECRETARY OF STATE.

and then dropped back to 47, up 1.4 on the day.

Railroad shares yielded the industrials in the late selling although Chicago & Northwestern and Great Northern preferred had been bid up to new high prices for the year in early trading. Such recent favorites as Atchafalaya, Atlantic Coast Line, Chesapeake & Ohio, Erie, Great Northern and Seaboard Air Line were depressed 2 points or so.

General Motors broke from an early high of 22 to 21.5 and then rallied fractionally for a net loss of 2 points on the day. Mack Trucks was weak throughout, breaking over 5 points to 117.18 and then rallying to 118.50.

Yellow Cab and Willys-Overland land all lost ground, but Studebaker was well supported, closing a point higher at 59.14, after having touched 60.34.

Weakness of Continental Baking issues was based on rumors that earnings in the first half of the year were insufficient to meet dividend requirements which would have to be met, in part, out of surplus. Brooklyn Edison broke a point to 14.50, but denial of rumors that new interests were seeking control of the company. Oils were pressed for sale in large quantities and prices were unchanged.

Call Loans Steady. Contrasting with the general heaviness of the renewed activity and strength of Warner Bros. 4's, which again soared over 7 points to a new record high at 67.12 and then slipped back to 64.44. Independent National Bank shares were unchanged at 11.00.

Foreign exchanges held steady in quiet trading, a jump of 10 points in Spanish pesetas to 15.30 cents being one of the few changes. Standard sterling ruled around 48.85 and French francs were firm above 286 cents.

Prices Move in Narrow Margin Reflecting Jewish Holiday—Brokers Advise Customers to Beware of Short Selling of Warner Bros.

New York, September 10.—(AP)—Speculators for the decline followed in forcing a sharp reaction in today's stock market, but not until after "bull" pools had lifted about a score of issues to new high records for the year. The decrease of over 60,000 tons in the August unfilled orders of the United States Steel corporation and a cut in automobile prices by a large manufacturer provided the "excuses" for the selling movement, but the market previously had shown signs of going stale, today with lack of public participation on a large scale.

The weekly mercantile reviews reported further improvement in many lines of industry, which offset the stimulating by the close of the vacation season and the opening of schools and colleges. Bank clearings this week were larger than the corresponding period a year ago and commodity prices showed a stiffening tendency. Dun's price index for September showing the first advance in eight months.

Mill Operations Gain. Although steel mill operations are reported to have increased about 1.2 per cent during the past week, bringing them to around 86 per cent of capacity, and the decrease in unfilled tonnage was attributed to larger shipments rather than a falling off in new business, steel shares were in supply most of the day. United States Steel common closed 2.12 points lower at 145 and Bethlehem, Gulf States and Youngstown Sheet and Tube yielded a point or so. Colorado Fuel touched a new 1926 high at 48.34.

Prospects for cotton, oats and beans, and for various California, Florida and Louisiana crops are not so good as they were a month ago. The composite condition of all crops on September 1 was only 2 per cent below the 10-year average on that date, representing an improvement of more than 2 per cent since August 1, and nearly 5 per cent since July 1.

Corn improved to the extent of 121,000 bushels over August 1 indications. The crop is late and the yield and quality still dependent largely on the date of the first killing frost.

Spring wheat prospects are about the same as a month ago with a production of about 212,000,000 bushels indicated. The estimated yield of 10.2 bushels an acre is the lowest since 1919, and is attributed largely to drought.

Rain damaged the oats crop in the short end of the extent of 47,540,000 bushels during the month and the quality has been much reduced while the hay crop is the shortest since 1918 and much of the smallest since 1914.

Relief from drought caused a substantial improvement in the potato crop, sending the forecast about 6,000,000 bushels above that of August. Nearly 110 bushels an acre is indicated, compared with the 10-year average of 101.6 bushels, but the yield is still largely dependent upon the lateness of the frost and the extent of losses from blight.

Tobacco was greatly benefited by rain throughout most of the growing season, and the forecast increased to the extent of 104,000,000 pounds during the month. The indicated production is still 68,000,000 pounds below last year's crop.

Abundant crops of apples, peaches, pears, grapes, oranges and grapefruit are indicated.

British Questionnaire Shows Majority Disbelieve in God

BY CHARLES M. MCANN.

London, September 10.—Amazing results of a questionnaire on religious belief, issued by "The Nation," an English weekly circulating among intellectuals, are published in the current issue of the magazine.

About 1,500 answers, many from some of England's so-called "high-brows," were received. Bernard Shaw and Augustine Birrell helped to draft the questions, but the names of those who sent answers—and these include many clergymen—are kept confidential.

The answers show a majority disbelieve in a personal God or the divinity of Christ. The ratio against belief in the Genesis was 14 to 1, while that against belief in transubstantiation was 20 to 1.

The answers to the third question: "Do you believe that the basis of reality is matter?" indicated a belief in some hidden impersonal force as 379 answered "yes," while 702 "no."

Discrepancies in the total number of answers to the various questions are due to the fact that some failed to answer all the questions or marked some "doubtful."

The "clan vital" mentioned in question No. 2 is the name Henri Bergson, French philosopher, gave to the impulse which Schopenhauer termed the "will to live."

Bergson's name for the same impulse, employed in "Man and Superman." The doctrine of transubstantiation referred to in question No. 13 is the word used by the Roman Catholic church to express the changing of the sacramental bread and wine into the actual body and blood of Christ in the eucharist.

The following are the questions and the answers:

1. Do you believe in a personal God? Yes, 537; no, 702.

2. Do you believe in an impersonal, purposive, and creative power of which living beings are the vehicle, corresponding to the various forces, the vital, the evolutionary, the appetitive, etc.? Yes, 503; no, 608.

3. Do you believe that the basis of reality is matter? Yes, 379; no, 702.

4. Do you believe in personal immortality? Yes, 578; no, 646.

5. Do you believe that Jesus Christ was divine in the sense that the living men could not be said to be divine? Yes, 474; no, 819.

6. Do you believe in any form of Christianity? Yes, 665; no, 585.

7. Do you believe in the Apostles' Creed? Yes, 280; no, 952.

8. Do you believe in the formulated tenets of any church? Yes, 325; no, 920.

9. Are you an active member of any church? Yes, 475; no, 827.

10. Do you voluntarily attend any religious service regularly? Yes, 571; no, 742.

11. Do you accept the first chapter of Genesis as historical? Yes, 885; no, 1,216.

12. Do you regard the Bible as inspired in a sense in which the literature of your own country could not be said to be inspired? Yes, 377; no, 923.

13. Do you believe in transubstantiation? Yes, 60; no, 1,255.

14. Do you believe that nature is indifferent to our ideals? Yes, 733; no, 215.

Discussion of ways and means of moving travel by rail safe featured a meeting Friday of the safety section of the American Railway association at the Henry Grady hotel. More than 50 officials of various railroads throughout the southeast attended.

Among addresses on the program were: "The Problem of Train and Passenger Accidents," "All Year Safety Campaigns," "Reporting Accidents," "Proper Loading of Logs," "Cooperation With Civic Organizations for Public Safety," and "Careful Crossing Campaigns."

Prominent railway officials who attended included: W. O. Wall, of the Georgia and Florida railway; F. Whittemore and E. S. Gordon, of the N. C. & St. L.; R. L. Pilling, of the F. & N. P.; J. H. Yarbrough, of the A. & W. P.; Robert Scott, John Adams and H. S. Corbin, of the A. C. L.; and G. L. Candler, of the Central of Georgia.

These men are devoting their entire time to accident prevention work among employees of the railroads they represent.

3,000 Musicians Given More Pay; Return To Work

Chicago, September 10.—(AP)—Three thousand union musicians, recipients of $4.50 a week raise for two years, and a $2 a week raise the third year, went back to their pits for mariages in 400 movie and 23 vaudeville theaters today after a four-day strike. Agreement was reached this morning after a third day of conferences between exhibitors and union spokesmen.

The musicians walked out Labor day, when a dispute over the employment of orchestras in small theaters interrupted the signing of an agreement reached early on the morning of that day to avert a previously called city-wide strike.
